

IN THE END

On a dark stormy night in 1992 (March 30th), a bright lightening struck an old haunted house owned by a guy called Paul. He was better known as Popular Paul and lived in the house. This event normally would not have scared him but this time when it hit it had made the whole house creak along with an ear piercing sound. Paul got up and decided to investigate why it had happened. He decided to check out the attic, as that is where the lighting had struck.

As he climbed the old creaky stairs to the attic he heard a noise, a deep groaning noise. He got his rusty keys out and opened the attic door. To his amazement there was a big gooey mess WITH EYES!!!!!! He fell down the stairs with a clunk! He got back up and ran to the front door, but the mess was there too and had eyes! IT WAS THE SAME MESS!!!!!! The mess leaped at him. He ran for the cupboard but the mess called "Sloppy Joe" was gaining on him. Paul was losing ground when Sloppy Joe and Paul stopped. This was a funny sight, both the mess and Paul were staring at each other.

All of a sudden Sloppy Joe and Paul ran for the T.V. They fought for the remote and Sloppy Joe won (only because he ate it). By using the old buttons on the side of his L.C.D. T.V., Paul turned his T.V. on. The screen flickered with colour, it flickered because he was stealing next door's power because he couldn't be bothered paying his own electricity bill. At this point you might be wondering what they might be so eager to watch. It was the Dee's vs. Dogs game. Joe was a Dogs' supporter and Paul a big Demons' supporter. By the time the TV was on with a picture, it was the 4th quarter. The score was Dogs: 20 Dees: 154. Joe got so angry over the score he went to eat Paul on the other side of the velvet couch. Paul was so engaged by the score that he forgot about Joe. Just when Joe nearly had Paul in his mouth, Paul leapt from the couch, got his knight in shining armour statue's sword and stabbed the mess. (This didn't matter because it was a mess) and went right through him, the immediate future looked bad for Paul but he then noticed that the mess was dying. He worked out Sloppy Joe was dying because the Dees had won and their theme song was playing. Paul joined in.

It's a grand old flag it's a high flying flag, It's the emblem for me and for you, It's the emblem of the team we love, The team of the red and the blue, Every heart beats true for the red and the blue, And we sing this song to you, Should old acquaintance be forgot, Keep your eye on the red and the blue... the mess was dead!!!!!!! Paul was that relived he decided to take an extra years membership out in the demons!!!

BY ANDO